tion Arranging a Programme. A meeting of the general committee of twenty-five of the District Bar Association on the celebration of John Marshall Day, February 4, was held yesterday afternoon at the rooms of the Bar Assoclation in the City Hall. Chapin Brown, the president of the District Bar Associa-tion, and the chairman of the general ommittee, presided. Judge William Wirt Howe, of Louisi-ana, who is chairman of the committee on the celebration of John Marshall Day on the celebration of John of the American Bar Association, was present, and made a brief address. The present, and made a brief address. The sub-committee on exercises in the public schools, in a report submitted by Fred D. McKenney, in the absence of the chairman, William H. Singleton, stated that the District Board of Education endorsed the proposition of the observance of the day by the school children of Washington.

These exercises will be under the supervision of the President of the Board of Education, and will consist of the reading of an essay on the subject of John Marshall, and the different branches of the Government. "IL TROVATORE" PRODUCED. Verdi's Opera Well Sung at the Na.

tional Theatre.

The Metropolitan company last night inreased the good opinion won by its work earlier in the week by giving an enjoyable performance of Verdi's opera, "The Tro iperformance of Verdi's opera, "The Troi-bedour," or, as the Savage-Grau company still calls it, "Il Trovatore." The audience was of generous proportions and was lav-ish in its approval of the members of the cast. Miss Grace Golden was advertised to sing 'Leonore.' but the indisposition that has kept her from the cast during the engagement prevented her appear-nance ast night and the role was assumed by Phoebe Strakosch, who proceeds as by Phoebe Strakosch, who proved an aceptable substitute

Ex-Secretary Herbert and his daughter, Mrs. Micou, gave a dinner of fourteen covers last night in honor of the Spanish Minister and Duchess de Arcos. Among the company were the Swiss Minister, Mr. and Mrs. Morehead, and Mr. Perguson.

Mrs. Micou will be at home tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Merwin McKaig, of Connecticut Avenue, have dinner invitations out for next Thursday and the count of the cast was Miss Meisslinger, who showed herself to be well grounded in the traditions of opera. William Goff was the Count di Luna and E. N. Knight was Ferrando. Knight was Ferrando.

of Hospital Fund.

An entertainment, seldom surpassed for its unique and pleasing features, was given yesterday afternoon at the National Theatre for the benefit of the Hospital Fund. The audience, while not so large as the merits of the performance warranted, was decidedly enthusiastic, and the many humorous bits were received with marked approval.

The first part of the programme repreconsisted of a series of artistic poses, en-titled: "Toilet of Bride," 'Looking Back-ward," 'Cymbal Players," 'Harmony," 'VYtetory," 'Sweet Slumber, " and "Home, Sweet Home."

IN THE HOTEL CORRIDORS.

Veterinary Surgeon Dillon, of the Quartermaster's Department, of Porto Rico, is in the city, and is registered at the Ebbitt. Speaking about Porto Rican affairs in general, Dr. Dillon said: "The Porto Ricans are a very good-hearted people; the Spaniards, however, are the more intelligent and richer class. No: there is no bitter feeling between them and us. On the contrary, they are very true friends after once their confidence and good will are gained. An American can go to a pian-tation at any time, where he is a welcome guest to the very best that's in the house. Business is a little dull just at present, but after the natives will have become a little more imbued with Amer-ican ideas and energy. Porto Rico will be the garden spot of the whole earth. Polities at present are at low tide.

"All of our horses and mules stand the climate very well. Of course, proper care and attention must be given them. Such an criticle as hay or corn is almost an unknown thing in the island. All of our hay and corn supply for our horses comes from the States. On one occasion we had to wait ten days for our regular shipment of forage, and our horses had to go without any feed for that length of time. There was something wrong some-where, though the animals stood it well. The natives feed their horses on green grass all the year round."

"It's really disgusting to hear people continuously talking about ye good olden times and our virtuous predecessors," said John R. Thorndyke, of Boston, who is a John R. Thorndyke, of Boston, who is a guest at the Shoreham. "In New Hampshire, for instance, in ye good olden times of virtue and moderation the drinking of healths and the use of tobacco were forbidden, the former being considered a heathenish practice, grounded on the ancient libations, the other as a species of intoxication and waste of time. There were laws to regulate the intercourse between the sexes, and advances toward tween the sexes, and advances toward matrimony were jealously watched by the argus eye of the law. Pride and levity of behavior were misdemeanors and came under the jurisdiction of the magistrate. Not only the richness but the mode of dress. Not only the richness but the mode of dress, and even cut of the hair, were subject to State regulations. But, mark ye, women were forbidden to expose their arms or their bosoms to view. The law prescribed that the sleeves should reach to the wrists, and their gowns be closed around the neck. Men were obliged to cut short their hair, that they might not resemble women. I wonder what society semble women. I wonder what society would say if one of our goody-goody vice crusaders would make the proposition to return to the times when it was an offence against the law to grow football hair and be proud of one of God's grand-est gifts-a beautiful form."

John F. Stewart, of Chicago, a prominent business man of the Windy City, and former member of the Hilnois State Legislature, is registered at the Raleigh. Said he last night: "I hate bald-headed people and long-whiskered men. I never sit down at the same table with them if I can help it. Yes; I have some rea-sons for these 'peculiarities,' as you call them. When I was a little bit of a boy, about four or five years old, I remember an old gentleman with bald head and long whiskers frequently visiting my parents home. On one of these occasions, just as dinner was being served, my boyish curiceity got the best of me, and, intently looking at the old gentleman's smooth and shining baid head and flowing whiskers, I said to mother: 'Ma, did that man's hair drop from his head and fell down and stuck on his chin?" Mother sent me away from the table and gave me a 'good talking to' afterward. That was my first

"My second experience was by far of more importance, and from it dates my abhorrence of baid heads and long whishers. I was an aspiring young attorney, and had just hung out my shingle in a growing Western town. I was getting along nicely until a bald-headed, long-whishered judge changed my luck and caused me to hunt it elsewhere. It came about in this way. I had a case in the county court.
